

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793 quis, quid interrog. pron.: who?, which?

refero, -ferre, rettuli, relātum: to carry back, relate quotiens adv.: how often, how many times, as often as temptāmen, -inis, n.: a trial, attempt noster, nostra, nostrum possess. adj.: our, ours pūdicus, -a, -um: modest, chaste 7.735 repello, -ere, reppuli, repulsum: to drive back; to reject, repulse, repel mos, mōris, m.: custom, habit, pl. morals quotiens adv.: how often, how many times, as often as

ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me dīco, -ere, dixi, dictum: to say, speak ūnus, -a, -um: one

servo, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to save, preserve, reserve ubicumque adv.: wherever sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist

ūnus, -a, -um: one

meus, -a, -um possess. adj.: my, mine gaudium -i, n.: joy, gladness servo, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to watch over, keep, preserve qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what nōn adv.: no, not iste, ista, istud demonstr. pron.: that of yours fides, -ēi, f.: trust, faith satis indecl. adj.: enough experientia, -ae, f.: trial, test, proof sānus, -a, -um: sound in mind, in one's right mind, rational, sane, sober, discreet magnus, -a, -um: great

sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist

nōn adv.: no, not

sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist

contentus, -a, -um: satisfying one's self with, contented, satisfied, content et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and in prep. with acc.: into, against

meus, -a, -um possess. adj.: my, mine

pugno, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to fight vulnus, -eris, n.: a wound, injury dum conj.: while census, -ūs, m.: wealth, riches, property do, dare, dedi, datum: to give

ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me

prō prep. with abl.: for, in exchange for nox, noctis, f.: night loquor, loqui, locūtus sum: to speak, talk, say

7.740

mūnus, -eris, n.: gift

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and augeo, -ēre, auxi, auctum: to augment, increase tandem adv.: at last

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

- dubito, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to doubt; hesitate cōgo, -ere, cōēgi, cōactum: to urge one to any action, to force, compel exclāmo, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to shout or cry out malus, -a, -um: wicked victor, -ōris, m.: victor, conqueror adsum, -esse, -fui, -futūrum: to be present, to be here malus, -a, -um: wicked
fictus, -a, -um: feigned, fictitious, false adulter, -eri, m.: adulterer vērus, -a, -um: true, real, actual
sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist
coniunx, -iugis, m.: spouse, husband
ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me perfidus, -a, -um: faithless testis, -is, m./f.: witness teneo, -ēre, tenui, tentum: to hold ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one nihil, n. indecl. noun: nothing tacitus, -a, -um: silent, quiet tantummodo adv.: only just vinco, -ere, vīci, victum: to overcome pudor, -ōris, m.: shame insīdīōsus, -a, -um: deceitful, treacherous
malus, -a, -um: wicked
cum prep. with abl.: with coniunx, -iugis, m.: spouse, husband līmen, -inis, n.: home, threshold, doorway fugio, -ere, fūgi, fugitum: to flee
- 7.745
- offensa, -ae, f.: offence, disfavor, displeasure, hatred; enmity
ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me genus, -eris, n.: race omnis, -e: every, all, the whole pērōsus, -a, -um: detesting, hating greatly vir, viri, m.: man mons, montis, m.: a mountain erro, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to wander studium, -i, n.: eagerness, zeal; pursuit ōpēror, -āri, -ātus sum +dat.: to devote one's self to, be engaged in or occupied with a thing Dīāna, -ae, f.: the goddess Diana, the virgin moon-goddess, the patroness of virginity, child-birth and hunting tum adv.: then, at that time
ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me dēsertus, -a, -um: abandoned, deserted violentus, -a, -um: violent, furious ignis, -is, m.: fire, ad prep. with acc.: to, toward os, ossis, n.: a bone pervenio, -īre, -vēni, -ventum: to come through to, reach, become known to ōro, , -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to beg, plead

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

venia, -ae, f.: pardon, forgiveness

et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and

pecco, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to err; to make a mistake, to offend, sin fateor, -ēri, fassus sum: to confess

et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and

possum, posse, potui: to be able

do, dare, dedi, datum: to give, offer similis, -e: like, similar succumbo, -ere, -cubui, -cubitum: to yield, be overcome; to submit, surrender, succumb culpa, -ae, f.: fault, blame

7.750

ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me

quoque adv.: also

mūnus, -eris, n.: gift

sī conj.: if, supposing that

mūnus, -eris, n.: gift

tantus, -a, -um: of such size or measure, so great

do, dare, dedi, datum: to give, offer hīc, haec, hōc demonstr. pron.: this, this one

ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me

confiteor, -ēri, -fessus sum: to acknowledge, confess, own, avow laedo, -ere, laesi, laesum: to hurt, injure prius comp. adv.: before, sooner, first, previously ulciscor, ulcisci, ultus sum: to take revenge for, to avenge, punish pudor, -ōris, m.: shame, chastity, modesty reddo, -ere, -didi, -ditum: to restore, return

et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and

dulcis, -e: pleasant, sweet, delightful concorditer adv.: in agreement, harmoniously exigo, -ere, -ēgi, -actum: to complete, pass, spend annus, -i, m.: year

do, dare, dedi, datum: to give, offer

ego, mei, mihi, mē, mē personal pron.: I, me

praetereā adv.: further, besides, moreover, beyond this tamquam adv.: just as; as if parvus, -a, -um: small

-, sui, sibi, sē, sē, 3rd p. reflex. pron.: himself, herself, itself, themselves

do, dare, dedi, datum: to give, offer dōnum, -i, n.: gift, present canis, -is, m.: dog

mūnus, -eris, n.: favor, gift

qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what cum conj.: when, since, although suus, -a, -um reflex. possess. adj.: his, her, it's own trādo, -ere, -didi, -ditum: to give, hand down, entrust ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one, he, she, it

7.755

Cynthia, -ae, f.: Diana curro, -ere, cucurri, cursum: to run, move quickly

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

- supero, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to be superior, to overcome, surpass dīco, -ere, dixi, dictum: to say, speak, tell omnis, -e: every, all
do, dare, dedi, datum: to give simul adv.: together, at the same time et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and iaculum, i, n.: javelin, dart manus, -ūs, f.: hand
qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what cerno, -ere, crēvi, crētum: to distinguish, see, notice, discern habeo, -ēre, -ui, -itum: to have
mūnus, -eris, n.: favor, gift
alter, -a, -um: the other of two, one of two, the other
qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what
sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist fortuna, -ae, f.: fortune, luck requīro, -ere, -sīvi, -sītum: to seek to know, to ask or inquire after accipio, -ere, -cēpi, -ceptum: to take, accept mīror, -āri, -ātus sum: to wonder or marvel at, to be astonished or amazed at novitas, -ātis, f.: novelty, rareness, strangeness, unusualness moveo, -ēre, mōvi, mōtum: to dislodge, move fiō, fieri, factus sum: to be made, happen, become carmen, -inis, n.: song, riddle Lāiādes, -ae, m.: Laiades, son of Laius i.e. Oedipus nōn adv.: not intellego, -ere, -lexi, -lectum: to perceive, understand prior, prius comp. adj.: former, previous, prior 7.760 solvo, -ere, solvi, solūtum: to release, set free, solve ingenium, -i, n.: natural capacity, talents, abilities, genius, intellect et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and praecipito, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to hasten or rush down, to throw one's self down, rush headlong, sink rapidly, to fall iaceo, -ēre, -ui, -itum: to lie, lie flat immemor, -oris, adj.: unmindful, forgetful ambāges, -is, f.: obscurity, ambiguity vātes, -is, f.: seer, prophet, i.e. Sphinx obscurus, -a, -um: dark, obscure, indistinct, unintelligible suus, -a, -um reflex. possess. adj.: his, her, its own prōtīnus adv.: further on, immediately Āōnīus, -a, -um: of or belonging to Aonia (a part of Bœotia); Aonian, Bœotian immitto, -ere, -mīsi, -missum: to send in, to send or despatch against, to let loose at alter, -a, -um: the other of two, one of two, the other Thebae, -arum, f. pl.: Thebes, chief city of Bœotia, one of the most ancient cities in Greece, founded by Cadmus scīlicet adv.: it is evident, clear, plain, or manifest; of course, naturally, evidently, certainly, undoubtedly almus, -a, -um: nourishing, kind, bountiful Themis, -idis, f.: Themis, the goddess of justice and of prophecy nec adv.: not; and not, also not tālis, -e: such, of such a kind, nature, or quality, such like linquo, -ere, liqui: to leave, abandon, forsake

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

inultus, -a, -um: unavenged, unpunished pestis, -is, f.: pest, curse, bane, ruin
et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and exitium, -ii, n.: destruction multus, -a, -um: much, great, many pecus, -oris, n.: cattle, herd, flock of sheep
-que conj.: and; -que. . .-que: both. . . and
suus, -a, -um reflex. possess. adj.: his, her, it's own
-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and

7.765

rūrīgēna, -ae, m.: rustic paveo, -ēre, pāvi: to fear, dread, be terrified at fera, -ae, f.: wild animal, beast vīcīnus, -a, -um: near, neighboring, in the neighborhood or vicinity iūventus, -ūtis, f.: Young persons, youth venio, -īre, vēni, ventum: to come
et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and lātus, -a, -um: broad, wide indāgo, -inis, f.: an encircling, enclosing, a surrounding of wild beasts with nets in hunting cingo, -ere, -xi, -nctum: to surround, encompass ager, -gri, m.: field, territory, district ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one, he, she, it levis, -e: light vēlox, -ōcis adj.: swift, quick, fleet, rapid, speedy supero, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to go over, surmount rēte, -is, n.: a net saltus, -ūs, m.: a leap, spring, bound summus, -a, -um: uppermost, highest
-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and transeo, -īre, -ii, -itum: to go over pōno, -ere, posui, positum: to put, place, set līnum, -i, n.: a net for hunting or fishing; a hunter's net, plaga, -ae, f.: a snare, trap cōpūla, -ae, f.: band, rope, tie, leash dētrāho, -ere, -xi, -ctum: to remove, withdraw, take away a thing from any one canis, -is, m./f.: dog
qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what
ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one sēquor, -i, sēcūtus sum: to follow, go after; chase, pursue

7.770

effugio, -ere, -fūgi: to flee away, flee from, escape
et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and coetus, -ūs, m.: an assemblage, crowd, company nōn adv.: not segnis, -e: slow ālēs, ālitīs, f.: bird lūdo, -ere, -si, -sus: to mock, ridicule; delude, deceive posco, -ere, poposci: to ask for urgently; to beg, demand, request, desire et conj.: and; et ... et: both ... and

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

ipse, ipsa, ipsum demonstr. pron.: -self, in person, he (emphatic), himself, herself, itself meus, -a, -um possess. adj.: my, mine
consensus, -ūs, m.: consensus, agreement Laelaps, -apis, m.: Laelaps, dog whose name is taken from the Greek word meaning “hurricane”
magnus, -a, -um: great mūnus, -eris, n.: a present, gift hīc, haec, hōc demonstr. pron.: this, this one nōmen, -inis, n.: name iamdūdum adv.: long since, long before, a long time ago. vinculum, -i, n.: a rope, fetter, leash pugno, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to fight, struggle exuo, -ere, -ui, -ūtum: to take off, pull off ipse, ipsa, ipsum demonstr. pron.: -self, in person, he (emphatic), himself, herself, itself
-, sui, sibi, sē, sē, 3rd p. reflex. pron.: himself, herself, itself, themselves collum, -i, n.: neck
-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and mōror, -āri, -ātus sum: to delay, retard, detain, cause to wait, hinder tendo, -ere, tetendi, tentum: to press, strain vix adv.: scarcely, hardly bene adv.: well, rightly, correctly; successfully mitto, -ere, mīsi, missum: to send, release, loose
sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist nec conj.: not, and not, nor iam adv.: now, already possum, posse, potui: to be able ubi adv.: where
sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist 7.775
scio, -īre, -īvi, -ītum: to perceive, see, know pēs, pedis, m.: foot, paw calidus, -a, -um: warm, hot vestīgium, -i, n.: track, print pulvis, -eris, m.: dust habeo, -ēre, -ui, -itum: to have, hold, contain
ipse, ipsa, ipsum demonstr. pron.: -self, in person, he (emphatic), himself, herself, itself oculus, -i, m.: eye, sight ērīpiō, -ere, -ipui, -eptum: to snatch away, take away
sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist
nōn adv.: not ōcīor, ōcīus comp. adj.: swifter, fleeter ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one, he, she, it hasta, -ae, f.: spear nec conj.: nor; nec. . . nec: neither...nor excutio, -ere, -cussi, -cussum: to cast out, send forth, shoot contorqueo, -ēre, contortī, contortum: to twist, swing, whirl, hurl verber, -eris, n.: lash, whip, rod; thong of a sling glans, glandis, f.: an acorn-shaped ball of lead or clay which was hurled at the enemy, nec conj.: nor Gortyniācus, -a, -um: of Gortyna, Gortynian, Cretan

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

calamus, -i, m.: arrow made of reed levis, -e: light, swift, quick, fleet exeo, -īre, -iī, -itum: to go forth, be loosed ab prep. + abl.: from arcus, -ūs, m.: bow collis, -is, m.: hill apex, -icis, m.: summit, top medius, -a, -um: in the midst, middle subiectus, -a, -um: lying under or near, bordering upon, neighboring, adjacent immineo, -ēre: to project over or towards a thing, to bend or lean towards, to hang down over, overhang arvum, -i, n.: an arable field, cultivated land, a field, ploughed land tollo, -ere, sustuli, sublatum: to take up a thing from its place, to take away, remove, take away with one ēō, adv.: to that place, thither capio, -ere, cēpi, captum: to take in, receive, (observe)

7.780

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and novus, -a, -um: new, novel, strange spectācūlum, -i, n.: spectacle, sight cursus, -ūs, m.: running, course quo adv.: where modo: by measure, hence, only, merely, but, just; modo. . . modo: now. . . now deprendo, -ere, -ndi, -ensum: to seize upon, catch

modo: by measure, hence, only, merely, but, just; modo. . . modo: now. . . now

-, sui, sibi, sē, sē, 3rd p. reflex.pron.: himself, herself, itself, themselves

subdūco, -cere, -duxi, -ductum: to draw up from under; with se steal away, withdraw ab prep. with abl.: from, away from ipse, ipsa, ipsum demonstr. pron.: -self, in person, very, just; he (emphatic), himself, herself, itself vulnus, -eris, n.: wound vidēo, -ēre, vīdi, vīsum: to see, perceive

fera, -ae, f.: wild animal, beast

nec conj.: not, and not, nor

līmēs, -itis, m.: a path, course, track callidus, -a, -um: crafty, cunning, artful, sly rectus, -a, -um: straight in prep. with acc.: into, on to, towards spatium, -i, n.: distance

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and

fugio, -ere, fūgi, fugitum: to flee

sed conj.: but, however dēcīpio, -ere, -cēpi, -ceptum: to elude, to deceive, to cheat ōs, ōris, n.: mouth

sēquor, -i, sēcūtus sum: to follow, pursue et conj.: and; and indeed et ... et: both ... and redeo, -īre, -iī, -itum: to go back, turn back, return, turn around in prep. with acc.: into gūrus, -i, m.: circle, a circular course nē conj.: not, that not, lest

sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist suus, -a, -um reflex. possess. adj.: his, her, its

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

impetus, -ūs, m.: violent or rapid motion, impetus hostis, -is, m.: enemy, foe, opponent

7.785

immineo, -ēre: to project over or towards a thing, to bend or lean towards, to hang down over, overhang

hīc, haec, hōc demonstr. pron.: this, this one

sēquor, -i, sēcūtus sum: to follow, pursue

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and par, paris adj.: equal similis, -e: like, resembling, similar

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and

teneo, -ēre, tenui, tentum: to hold, to possess

nōn adv.: not

teneo, -ēre, tenui, tentum: to hold, to possess

et conj.: and; and indeed; et ... et: both ... and

vanus, -a, -um: that contains nothing, empty, void. vacant; fruitless, vain exerceo, -ēre, -ui, -itum: to exercise, employ, make us of in prep. with acc.: into, on to āēr, āēris, Gk. acc. āēra, m.: air morsus, -ūs, m.: bite, biting

ad prep. with acc.: to, toward

iaculum, -i, n.: javelin verto, -ere, -ti -sum: to turn, turn around; pass. to turn or incline one's self towards ops, opis, f.: might, power; aid, help, support, assistance

qui, quae, quod rel. pron.: who, which, what

dextera, -ae, f.: the right hand libro, -āre, -āvi, -ātum to balance, hold up dum conj.: while, during that time, so long as

meus, -a, -um possess. adj.: my, mine

dum conj.: while, during that time, so long as

digitus, -i, m.: finger āmentum, -i, n.: a strap or thong on a javelin addo, -ere, -didi, -ditum: to give, bring, place tempto, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to try, attempt lūmen, -inis, n.: light, lamp, pl. eyes dēflecto, -ere, -xi, -xum: to bend down or aside; to turn aside or in another direction revoco, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to draw or fetch back, to withdraw, turn back

-que conj.: and; -que ... -que: both ... and rursus adv.: backward, back again ēōdem, adv.: to the same place, to the same point

7.790

refero, -ferre, rettuli, relātum: to carry back, bring back, return medius, -a, -um: middle, central, middlemost mīrus, -a, -um: amazing, wonderful, marvellous, astonishing, extraordinary duo, -ae, -o irreg. num.: two marmor, -oris, n.: marble, marble statue campus, -i, m.: level space, plain, field adspicio, -ere, -spexi, -spectum: to look at, behold, see

fugio, -ere, fūgi, fugitum: to flee

hīc, haec, hōc demonstr. pron.: this, this one

Glossary for Met. VII. 734-793

ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one capto, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to lay hold of, capture, grasp puto, -āre, -āvi, -ātum: to think scīlicet adv.: it is evident, clear, plain, or manifest; of course, naturally, evidently, certainly, undoubtedly

invictus, -a, -um: unconquered, unsubdued ambō, -ae, -o: both, both together certāmen, -inis, n.: contest, struggle cursus, -ūs, m.: running, rapid motion, course

sum, esse, fui, futūrum: to be, to exist

deus, -i, m.: god

volo, velle, volui: to wish, to want

sī conj.: if, supposing that (ali)quis, (ali)quid indef. adj.: some, any

deus, -i, m.: god

adsum, adesse, adfui: to be present, to be at or near; support, help, show sympathy with ille, illa, illud demonstr. pron.: that, that one